About IMS Philosophy and Purpose

The International Montessori Society (IMS) was established in 1979 to support Montessori teaching as a scientific way of being committed to laws of nature with children. This is the approach that brings about the child's true nature as discovered by Dr. Montessori in 1907. By following this true natural Montessori teaching, the child will show such outward normal qualities as love of order, spontaneous self-discipline, attachment to reality, and complete harmony with the entire environment.

IMS offers support services and resources for practicing true natural Montessori teaching through teacher education, publications, on-line discussion, seminar workshops, school recognition, and consultation. This support aims especially to help you learn the unique technology designed for true natural Montessori teaching, which is only available through IMS.
